THE MAKING OF NEW COUNTIES.

There is a good deal of contention in the Legislature over the proposed division of counties, and in every case there is an array of petitioners and protestants. These matters we look upon as of purely local concern, and believe they should be decided in accordance with the wishes of the people. We have neither part nor lot in them, and wish none. But aside from these facts, and the natural regret that local matters should absorb much of valuable time of the State, there are certain principles of government involved that are of profound interest, and to which all may profitably give thought. In new counties changes in the boundaries of counties are almost constant as State building goes on, and California is no exception. The reasons are obvious: as the land is settled and built, the centers of population determine, lines of travel are established, commerce dictates trade routes and depots, and public convenience makes itself prominent in demands for consideration. Hence it is that we find in every State there has through all its early history been a great deal of county formation and reformation going on. Let us see how it has been.

Under the Act of 1851 the counties of California were Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Klamath, Los Angeles, Marin, Mariposa, Mendocino, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Shasta, Siskiyou, Sonoma, Sutter, Trinity, Tuolumne, Yolo and Yuba. Prior thereto Santa Cruz was carved from Branciforte, Nevada from Yuba, and Placer from Sutter. In 1851 we then had twenty-nine counties, and since then have so subdivided them as to give us twenty-three new counties. In every instance the subdivision was made in answer to the demand of the people for consideration of their convenience.

The carving process by which these counties were made may prove of more than passing interest, and we go somewhat into detail for the historical value involved.

Alameda was carved out of the south part of Contra Costa and Santa Clara, March, 1852.

Alpine was carved out of the Calaveras Sierra Region and the east part of El Dorado, and more recently from Tuolumne.

Amador out of the north part of Calaveras, April, 1853, and re-bounded April, 1856.

Butte, originally from the north part of Klamath, March, 1857, and the latter county was wholly absorbed by Siskiyou and Humboldt.

Calaveras was carved from Trinity, 1853, and enlarged by absorption of part of Klamath, March, 1857.

Colusa was carved from Tulare and Mono, and its birth date is 1866.

Del Norte was formed originally from Trinity, April, 1861, and Fresno and Mariposa were also born for a like purpose.

Glenn was carved out of the north part of Klamath, March, 1857, and the latter county was wholly absorbed by Siskiyou and Humboldt.

Imperial, originally from Tuolumne, 1850, and from San Joaquin, 1860, and her sisters have since been born.

Inyo was carved out of the east part of Siskiyou, February, 1874.

Meredoc was born April, 1858, of the southwest and northwest parts of Mono.

Mono, as shown, came out of Fresno and Calaveras, April, 1861.

Placer, originally from the north part of Napa, 1850, and Fresno and Mariposa were also born for a like purpose.

Plumas was carved from the north part of Klamath, March, 1857, and the latter county was wholly absorbed by Siskiyou and Humboldt.

Riverside was carved out of the east part of Siskiyou, April, 1862, out of Yuba.

Santa Barbara was carved out of Los Angeles, 1850.

San Benito was carved from the east part of Monterey, April, 1857.

Tehama was taken from the southwest of Shasta April, 1856.

Tulare was carved from the east part of Fresno, April, 1858, and Fresno and Mariposa were also born for a like purpose.

Yolo was carved from the east part of Siskiyou, February, 1874.

Yeredoc was born April, 1858, of the southwest and northwest parts of Mono.

Yolo, as shown, came out of Fresno and Calaveras, April, 1861.

Yuba was carved from the north part of Napa, 1850, and Fresno and Mariposa were also born for a like purpose.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A GOOD MEASURE.

A Proposed Law for the Better Protection of Capitol Park.
Assemblyman Mathews of Tehama some days ago introduced a bill providing for the appointment and maintenance of a State police in the Capitol grounds. Yesterday he introduced the following bill which ought to become a law: It provides that every person who willfully defaces the fences, sidewalks, or buildings erected on the State Capitol grounds; Will, plants, trees, flowers, or breaks or in any way injure any tree, shrub or vine growing on the grounds.

Who walks or lies on the grass plats, except on days when public performances are presented on the ground by the State Capitol Committee.

Who drives any wagon, truck, or vehicle of any kind on the drives or walks of the ground, except buggies or carriages driven for hire.

Who stands in front of any kind of vehicle in front of the main entrance, to the width of the concrete walk leading west to Temple street;

Who violates any rule or order of the State Capitol Commissioners, passed relating to the preservation of the grounds and trees, and to the maintenance of the same, and to the maintenance of decency and good order on the ground, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable by a fine not less than five dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not less than five days, nor more than fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

A Disengaged Individual.

Early yesterday afternoon a man named Theodore Lemer called at the residence of R. Oppenheim, Eighth and I streets, and who had been engaged in a suit which he wanted, requested a gift or loan of $2. The request was refused, Mr. Oppenheim's son's ranch, where he had been given employment, and go to work, instead of being given a gift. Lemer was then advised that he quickly pulled a rock from his pocket and struck Oppenheim twice on the head with it, inflicting two wounds, one of which was such a severe cut that a surgeon who was present had to suture it. Lemer had much difficulty in stopping the flow of blood. Lemer walked down I street, and was followed by C. C. Brown, who at Sixth street, informed Constable Swift that he had been shot. Lemer followed Lemer to a street down which he turned. The officer was informed at the corner of Sixth street, more fully as to what had happened, and he said to him, "I am not a member of the Salvation Army." His action and appearance and manner of speaking, and Constable Swift to believe that he was not in his right mind. The rock with which he struck Oppenheim and Swift both knew him, and he was brought to the city with him from Amador county, and had carried some time.

Police Court.

In the Police Court yesterday the case of A. Boitago, charged with the killing of his partner, H. B. Wilson, was dismissed on the motion of the City Attorney, who stated that there was no complaint on file and the injured man had refused to swear to one. The parties, proprietors of the Alta Saloon, on Third street, between J and K, had a disagreement on the amount of money in the saloon, the amount of the 3d and 4th Borzone, assualted Boitago with a chair, when the latter drew a big knife and made a lunge at him. The weapon, fortunately, was a rattle and not a real knife, and would not have been dangerous. Frank Swan, who pleaded guilty on Tuesday to two charges of petit larceny—stealing beef tongues from Hagerman's slaughter house, and robbing and robbing a woman's purse—was fined $90, and given imprisonment in each case, the imprisonment in the second case to commence at the expiration of the first sentence.... The amount of the sum charged in the indictment of a small sum of money was continued until the 19th.... T. Klebs, accused of having been drunk, forfeited his deposit.

Accused of Larceny.

A press dispatch from Auburn, dated February 13th, reads as follows: "J. B. Holson to-day, in an action against the members of the Sacramento Bee for criminal libel. The case arises from the comments by the Bee on Hobson's testimony in the McWhorter trial, in which that paper declared its belief in Hobson's guilt. A suit will also be brought against the McWhorters by Hobson in Sacramento county." Yesterday Under Sheriff Hayford of Auburn, came down from the County of Dunnigan of Sacramento and charged misdemeanors. They immediately gave bonds before Justice Davis, with W. F. Huntford and A. J. Johnston as sureties, for their appearance before Justice Dunnigan next Monday.

THE LAST DAY.

Prospects for the Release of the Travelers Snow-bound on the Hill.

Early yesterday morning the snow-plow that had been stalled for two days at Shady Run was dug out by the shovels, and at 6 o'clock it had reached Alta. Between there and Colfax it had some work to do, but arrived at the latter place at 8 o'clock. There the plow was turned and the engines cooled up, and at 9 o'clock the plow, with engine cooled, started its climb back up the hill, carrying a large gang of snow-shovelers for service in case of need. Following the plow was the wrecking train, from this city, drawn by three locomotives. The plow drivers, however, had to stop at a point just above where it had been stalled so long, and there it found an immense quantity of snow which had collected during the day. The plow had not cleared the road in this snow, and had reached Blue Canyon, where the snow-shovels commence, and the road was open for the wrecking car to proceed to Shady Run. No. 4, where the plow stopped, was the last point to be cleared, and the snow-shovels finally throwing it aside, the plow advanced again.

Slowly but surely the plow advanced, the walls of snow on either side reaching to the top of the mounds, and the debris of drifts with the snow, but it was the only recourse. When the plow was released it had to go up to the top of the hill, and then down again, stop after creating a great commotion in the bank attacked. The track was like a trench, with the walls of snow on either side reaching to the top of the mounds, and the debris of drifts with the snow, but it was the only recourse.
